LIKELY ELEMENTARY STUDENT COUNCIL

Once again back for what's happening at Likely Elementary School. The primary students have been learning all about the human body in science. Meanwhile the intermediate students have a new teacher and his name is Mr. Calvert. He's been teaching us current events and a scaled map of the hallway at school in social studies. We've been going skating for the past couple of weeks at the local rink. Thanks to Aileen, Steve and Jenean for the help at the rink and for the soup and hot cocoa. The school now has a new student bringing the total of students in up to fifteen! The student council has been counting the Canadian tire money we've collected. We started a secret friend draw. The secret friend draw is where you pick a name from the hat or the container, who's name you've picked is your "secret friend", for example, you could play with them or sit with them. You keep the name to yourself and that's it. And of course, we can't forget P.E. Mr. Calvert has taught us a few new games, there is a raft game where the mats are the rafts. You need to move the mats so you can get across the gym, the team that gets across first wins! Thanks for reading again, check back next month. -----Hailey-Anne
